BRITISH MENACE ARMENITIES

A Few More Strides Forward Will Place Haig's Men Where This Important City Will Be Easily Taken

ALLIED CONTROL
RAW MATERIALS
AFTER THE WARSERIOUS CONSIDERATION TO THIS POST-WAR POLICY IS AL-READY UNDERTAKEN BY THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT AS A PROTECTION AGAINST HUNUNITED STATES WILL BE FREELY CONSULTEDPhilip B. Kennedy, American Commercial Attaché at London Sends Washington a Report of the Important Conferences Being Held

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—After control of raw materials after the war is perhaps receiving more serious attention from the British than any of the other post-war policy questions discussed by the British and American governments.

Philip B. Kennedy, American commercial attaché at London, in a report to Washington, says that after the British government has perfected a plan for obtaining control of materials in the British Empire, it is expected that representations will be made to the United States and other allied countries for some common action.

Important meetings of the Imperial War Conference and the Imperial War Cabinet were held in London during July, he says, at which prime ministers and other representatives of the dominions were present. The conference was a deliberative body which reports its decisions to the cabinet, a more executive organization. Questions of imperial policy were discussed at the meetings, which were regarded of unusual authority because of the prominence of the conference.

A special committee of the conference was appointed to consider the best methods by which essential raw materials may be controlled, and Harlowe, Chancellor of the Exchequer, has informed parliament that agreements have been made with the dominion governments to secure a common front in imperial competition in matters of economic policy, in favor of the dominion representatives, pending from their representatives, Mr. Kennedy reports. He adds that Australia and New Zealand are interested in reducing the German colonies in the Pacific and in controlling German trade after the war.

The dominions were asked to pass laws similar to the British laws regarding industrial control, which make it necessary to obtain licenses to export in certain cases. Legislation is designed to free the British Empire from dependence on German-controlled exports.

Another important resolution adopted by the conference is understood to have asked the dominions to cooperate with the imperial government in protecting the developing British industries.

The conference also considered questions relating to the development of inter-empire trade, such as transport, new services, postal, telegraph and migration, improved shipping connections between Great Britain and the dominions, and other matters of common interest. Mr. Kennedy says that the conference has decided to establish a committee to study the possibilities of a world market for British goods, which would supply and transport materials from different parts of the empire. Control of immigration after the war also was discussed.

Although the dominion representatives have not yet made a decision on the important questions relating to the common front, Mr. Kennedy points out that it is not certain that the British government will be required to perfect finally a program of foreign economic policy during the war.

Salvage Depot American Army In France Reclaims Vast Quantities Of Goods

Americans in France, No. 91
AMERICAN SUPPLY HEADQUARTERS, TOWN, France, Sept. 10.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.) Two carloads of household goods, abandoned by American soldiers in camp, were among the wreckage of battle brought today to the great salvage depot of the American army here.

There was only one little item in the list of goods and little from the fighting zone which has been carefully gathered up and sent here for destruction.

Fifty thousand pieces of equipment in everything from clothing to food
brought today to the great salvage depot of the American army here.

The material was stored in the depot and is being used for various purposes. The material is being used for various purposes.

In the big battle around Cambrai, France, as our fighting men went over the top, they were followed closely by detachments of non-combatant troops to carry out the message and destroy and even to burn complete standards and flags. Each detachment carried 25 soldiers and one or two of them. They had trucks and trucks and all left paraphernalia for the battle, including food, clothing and other necessities. The material was left in the track of the soldiers and it would be hard to the salvage depot here.

Strange things have come out of this war and strange things will come out of this war. The material was left in the track of the soldiers and it would be hard to the salvage depot here.

MARINES REPAY HUNG
FOR BASE TREACHERY

WITH THE AMERICAN
ARMY IN FRANCE, Sept. 10.— Grim-faced, determined and steady after several days of desperate, continuous battle, a battalion of Marines was being rapidly retrained and reorganized at the front.

The fact that the Marines were in the majority, but the Hun soldiers were pouring heavily upon them.

Suddenly the Huns stopped their attack and the Marines were left to their own devices.

The Marines waited for the surrounding enemy to approach.
When the foe came within 200 yards their first line dropped.
They had been digging fox holes and were now standing in their holes.

About 100 Marines fell before their comrades with a yell of rage and revenge surged forward. The bayonet for him a Hun survive.

This is another example of the fighting spirit of the Marines. It is a fact that the Marines are the backbone of the American army.

OUSLEY URGES TEXAS
FARMERS TO PURCHASE
WAR SAVINGS STAMPS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—Counting on the vital necessity for automatic savings and for increased crop production, Clarence Ousley, Assistant Secretary of the Department of Agriculture, has sent the following message to the farmers of Texas through the National War Savings Committee.

Production and conservation—savings and saving—are the most effective means the people of Texas have for helping their Government win the war against Germany.

It must be remembered and it must be remembered that food is not the only problem of the war. There must be money, many millions of dollars available for the use of the Government.
It should be remembered and placed at the disposal of the Government as far as possible through the purchase of

The price of stamps is the price of savings. It is the price of the war.
It is the price of the war. It is the price of the war. It is the price of the war. It is the price of the war.
